SUCCESS STORY

Cisco Centralizes Innovation and Delivery

Innovation is an integral part of Cisco's DNA and new ideas have always been central to their success.

Missing, however, was one seamless and holistic process for converting successful ideas into realized value.

The Cisco team really needed a tool that was transformational, supported the entire end-to-end process and was easy to use – that's where edison365 came into play.

- With edison365, Cisco's global teams are able to generate, collaborate and evaluate ideas through a single platform.
- It also enables business cases to be customized to each team's way of working and offers an easy-to-use platform to execute the resulting projects.
